

AMA-ZONE

BY ANA TAMAYO

AMA-ZONE

In this exhibition, I expressed my own vision, personal concern in nature conservation, and research through art, finding common ground from the sky, the earth, and the subsoil of the Amazon rainforest where everything comes together, and from this union comes AMA-ZONE, a network of new spaces that we can all take care of, and a new meaning appears to the territory: AMA (care, love) ZONE (our personal and collective spaces).

ANA TAMAYO

Colombian artist

In her paintings and sculptures that flow from her identity as a Colombian, Ana continuously questions herself about nature conservation. She studies the forms of nature, its movements, and the connection to the ecosystem that nourishes itself. The colors in her paintings transform into shapes that flow like dynamic curves and undulating lines with the effort to represent her interpretation of nature in constant movement.

Ana's inspiration also comes from scientists like Humboldt and Ernst Haeckel. She has an infinite tropical representational universe full of sensations, some figurative, others conceptual.

Ana has work in private collections in the United States, in foreign countries, and in public spaces. She has exhibited nationally and internationally.

Thanks to its fantastic success, the AMA-ZONE art exhibition was extended at The Studio at Mizner Park, located next to the Museum of Art in the heart of downtown Boca Raton.

This exhibition has been selected to take part in a Harvard University-produced documentary film on the Amazon jungle, which is in the process of getting grant approval.
